per left, "Yellow Submarine," the winner of the first place award for floats in the annual Mollycokett Day parade last Saturday. Sponsored by Western Auto, the float was the result of countless hours of labor by many diligent workers, young and old.

The camp float of Boy Scout Troop 565 (upper right), received second prize.

At the lower left is the "dunking tank" operated by the Bethel Snow Twisters, one of the more popular booths on the Common before rain dampened the festivities Saturday noon.

On the right is shown part of the crowd on the Common following the parade, that was said by many to be the best in years.

The parade, led by Miss Mollycokett—1970 Christine Grover, featured the Old Crow Indian Band, a color guard, riders on horseback, bicyclists, walkers, many attractive floats, and clowns on foot and mini-bikes from the Oxford County Shrine Club. A complete list of parade participants is apparently unavailable.

First prize for walkers was awarded jointly to Kassi Salway and Mary MacKay. Second prize went to Debbie Young.

Judging the parade were Curtis Woolford, Summit, N. J.; George Kennedy, Garden City, N. Y., and Mrs. Edward McQuade, Garden City, N. Y., summer guests at the Bethel Inn.

It is understood that the sponsoring Bethel Lions Club realized a substantial boost in funds for their charity work as a result of the day's activities, despite the rainy afternoon. It was erroneously reported in The Citizen last week that the event would benefit the Bethel Health Council.

Millard Clough is a patient at the Rumford Community Hospital, having been admitted on Wednesday.

Mrs. Gay Gibbs will leave Sunday July 26, for Burlington, Vt., where she will attend the summer session at the University of Vermont.

COMMENTS FROM THE OFFICE OF THE TOWN MANAGER

Plans are being made to start on the drain in Main Street. We are procuring easements along Sanding Brook from Main to Mason Streets so we can continue away from the street limits if we feel there is a need. We have not heard if we are eligible for Federal funds for the project.

If the work is done under the regulations specified using Federal funds we will contract the men and equipment as we cannot receive reimbursement for our own men unless they work overtime or week ends. Our equipment would be paid approximately one half what we can pay a contractor. We would be allowed $200 per hour for our trucks but can pay a contractor State wage, which is $3.90 for vehicles the size of ours. Under the regulations as they exist we will pay our own foreman to oversee the project and hire others rather than use our regular crew to do the actual work.

Elwyn N. Dickey

OF MOUNTAINSIDE

Mike came in last night with his wife and guitar and played for those of us who were there at the time. We had a beautiful day at Mountain side, we were all hoping some of the town folk could make their way down but it's enjoyable to wonder about something you know nothing about. So Mike is coming to play Friday night at eight for awhile. It's been a long while since I've heard such music and it does the ears fine to experience a little folk now and then rather than sitting in the street with the lawn mower doing the lawn in C flat. The Mountain people thus invite a nation of people from here and there to come and have an evening of folk with us at the church. Admission should be a dollar depending upon many different realms.

NIGHT HUNTING IS PROBLEM IN PORTION OF STATE

Chief Warden Maynard F. Marsh of the Maine Fish and Game Dept. reports that night hunting activity is cropping up in an area generally bounded from Waterville to Lincoln and east to the coast.

Several illegal hunters have been apprehended, and there have been numerous prosecutions for illegal possession of deer meat as well as of moose meat.

"The people can't call themselves sportsmen," Marsh said, "and they can't lay claim to being forced to do this to provide for their families. But for some reason, they seem compelled to destroy wildlife."

Although flying squads are utilized in the fall to curb this activity, Marsh said that several special warden teams have been alerted and will be covering the crucial areas this summer and early fall.

The warden force is spread "just about as thin as we dare to," the chief warden said, "but our men are going all out to put a stop to jack-ing."

Sportsmen-citizens are urged to report any incidences of night hunting to their local wardens or other law enforcement agencies. "In this way, we might be able to keep up with these game thieves," Marsh said.

S. A. D. 44 DIRECTORS GREET NEW SUPERINTENDENT

AT MONDAY EVENING SESSION

Expressing his appreciation at being selected as superintendent of S. A. D. 44, Robert J. Gerardi said that he was looking forward to working with the board of directors and the District. At the regular meeting of the directors Monday evening at Telstar Regional High School, Mr. Gerardi also said that three days of orientation with the former superintendent, Ralph K. Ryder, last week were most helpful.

Following a brief executive session the board approved the nomination of the following teaching personnel: Miss Ida M. Andrews, grade 5, Crescent Park School; Edward F. Flynn, supervising principal, Crescent Park, Elhel Bisbee, and R. C. Foster Schools; Michael M. Gilbert, grade 4, Crescent Park School; Harry I. Strout, industrial arts (automotive and electrical), Telstar Regional High School; Mrs. Susan Constantineau, elementary art in District schools.

Miss Andrews is a graduate of Christian Academy in 1966, and received her B. S. degree from Hob Jones University in 1970. This is her first teaching position.

Mr. Flynn graduated from high school in Braintree, Mass., in 1948, receiving his B. S. degree from Washington State University in 1956, and M. Ed. from the University of Maine in 1963. He has 13 years of teaching and administrative experience. Married with six children, Mr. Flynn resides in Rumford.

Mr. Gilbert graduated from St. Dominic High School, Lewiston, in 1963, and received his B. A. degree from the University of Maine in 1969. He has completed six credit hours beyond his bachelor's degree. He has had two years of teaching experience. Unmarried, Mr. Gilbert resides in Auburn.

Mr. Strout is a graduate of Woodstock High School and received his B. S. degree from Gorham State College in 1969. He has had one year of teaching experience. Mr. Strout is unmarried and resides in Bryant Pond.

A graduate of Brunswick High School in 1967, Mrs. Constantineau received her B. A. degree from Colby College in 1969. She has had no teaching experience and at present resides with her husband in North Andover, Mass.

Reporting for the building committee, Milton Mills of Woodstock, discussed the work being done on the upper athletic field and at the rear of the Telstar facility. He suggested that other directors inspect the projects when they had the opportunity. He reported that the overflow parking portion of the student parking lot had been graded and seeded. It was the decision of the board to have the remaining 15,000 square feet of the parking lot paved at a cost of $4,120.

Mr. Mills also stated that the installation of auditorium lighting, approved as a summer project, would be completed in the near future.

Also discussed briefly was the garage project, with the building committee's recommendation that any further board action await State Department approval. It was the feeling of the board that the Transportation Committee investigate the possibility of maintenance work being contracted through local garages and/or service stations.

The following addition to the Bus Transportation policy received final board approval: Riding Bus Vehicles "Students must return in a school vehicle from school or a school function, if they rode to school or the school function in a school vehicle."

HOMESITE DEVELOPMENT LOANS AVAILABLE

Another avenue of attack on the rural housing problem has been developed by the Farmers Home Administration. Daniel McAllister, Cumberland/Oxford County Supervisor for the Department of Agriculture credit agency, has announced.

Under the program newly unveiled by Farmers Home National Administrator James V. Smith, loans can now be made to local public agencies and private nonprofit organizations to buy and develop land as homesites for sale to rural families of low and moderate income.

FHA Supervisor McAllister called the program "another step toward upgrading living conditions in our rural areas, where we find half of all the bad housing in the United States."

"In many rural communities," he added, "adequate homesites served by roads and utilities must be developed before modern housing can be supplied. This new program will enable rural communities to ease their problem of homesite development, either through their local public agencies or through private nonprofit organizations devoted to that purpose."

Supervisor McAllister said the plan authorizes lending up to $100,000 to qualified groups to buy and develop tracts to be sold as homesites within two years. Applicants for the site must qualify under low or moderate income guidelines of USDA or the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Sites developed under the program can be used for individual family-owned homes or for rental or cooperative housing.

McAllister said homesite loan funds may be used to buy and develop land, install improvements and pay related costs. Loans will be repayable within two years from lot sale proceeds. The interest rate is 7 1/2 per cent, except a 3 per cent rate will apply to sites for self-help housing projects on which occupant families perform the bulk of construction work.

Homesite loans may be discussed with Supervisor McAllister at his office at 112 Main Street, Bridgton.

GREENWOOD CITY

Mrs. Collette Morgan, Corral.
We found a lovely trail at a spot where a sparkling river flowed out from the hills and on down the valley. There was a tiny tent on its bank, where the sand looked warm and inviting in front of it. It was a beautiful little spot at the foot of a gray bluff with life and music furnished by the rippling water and various birds.

Up we went and the way at first was steep as Ruth assured me it would be. We didn't hurry but toiled along the woody trail where the trees were almost human with their out reaching arms.

Then through the deep softness of ferns, rich and green, we saw the individual patterns of leaves, maples, oak, birch and beech, that make up our woods.

Occasionally we leaned against a tree, and looked up and out glimpsing the twigs or branches against the sky. In the distance there were the pines and spruces softly dark against the hills. These and our river were a symbol of natural New England because these are what New Englanders admire.

The only sounds were those of the natural world until from high up a voice called to those on the river bank enjoying themselves on the sand.

Sometimes we traveled along a ridge that gave a glimpse of the country on the other side of the valley.

Soon we reached the top which was a cap of gray granite mostly devoid of vegetation. Below there were more trails and ledges and on these a few trees struggling grimly for what nourishment they could get.

Looking down we caught glimpses of the crystal water sparkling like diamonds set in the emerald green at the base of the hills, bringing out the wild beauty of the scene. Then again it was as full of wrinkles as an old man's forehead when wearing a frown.

Seated on the granite top the evergreens far below were toylike in the distance. The sun climbed high in the sky and reflected its hot rays on the naked rock.

We then descended the trail after a last look across the valley, catching the shades and shadows. I thought, "Even in an hour there will be a change and on another day still different."

At the base of the trail steep steps the roots helped us to make our way. Here a few small apples caught my eye. Looking up I saw an apple tree so old that I couldn't believe this fruit came from it, but they were there.

Going across the foot bridge we sat on the rocks by the talkative stream and dangled toes in the water. We looked up to see the two whom we had met on our way down trail seated where we had been a short time ago. Ruth spoke of camping here some years ago with her daughter.

Tiny fish swam about while occasionally the "musical cannibals" hovered around. On top of the water the pond skaters danced on their six feet in "lady shoes." The fine hairs kept them from sinking. The next time you see one scoop it up into a dish and have a look at its feet.

"If ever I fell in a witch's power And were changed to an insect for an hour, I'd choose to be a water skitter Skating circles wide and wider! Perhaps then, when the hour was through, He'd let me have his water shoe So I could skate upon the pond While all the water bugs looked on."

We left the skaters and rode on toward home. The sun flamed a cross the splendid waves of grasses. The road climbed a range of hills East Greenland. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Andrews, and Mrs. Mildred Allen of Fryeburg.

where rugged peaks dominated Evans Notch.

Back home I had memories of the mountains as they drew away into the darkness. I thought what a delight it had been to tramp along, to breathe deeply, and to feel the ecstatic warmth of exercise.

Christian Science
The question "What is truth?" has a logical and practical answer according to the Lesson-Sermon on "Truth" to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, July 26.

With a Golden Text from Second Corinthians which states, "We can do nothing against the truth, but for the truth," the readings include a verse from Psalms: "For the word of the Lord is right; and all his works are done in truth."

The following passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, also is part of the Lesson-Sermon.

Because Truth is infinite, error cannot be known as reality. Because Truth is omnipresent in good ness, error is omnipresent in badness. Error is the opposite of good, and is the opposite of truth. The greatest wrong is to let a supposition of the highest right. The confidence ingenuity by Science lies in the fact that Truth is real and error is not.

Services begin at 11 a. m. at

HURRICANE SEASON ARRIVED
—SAYS STATE C. D. HEAD

The annual hurricane season, the most dangerous natural disaster threat to Maine during summer and early autumn, has definitely arrived. Emilien A. Levesque, Director, State Civil Defense and Public Safety Agency, warned this week.

He pointed out that "Becky," the second tropical disturbance in the south Atlantic in 1970, formed near eastern Cuba three days ago and by midweek had arrived south of Pensacola in the Gulf of Mexico, but is not, as yet, an emergency threat.

These storms begin as small tropical cyclones, Director Levesque said, and, unless dissipated, drift gradually west-northwest. Under certain conditions, they may increase in size, speed and intensity to become full-fledged hurricanes. The Atlantic Hurricane Warning Service, Miami, and the Environmental Services Administration (ESA), with offices along the Gulf Coast and in eastern ports up to Boston, maintain a constant watch and warning system.

For purposes of identification, the Weather Bureau in 1960 established a list of cyclone names, changed annually.
Those for 1970 are Alma, Becky, Celia, Dorothy, Ella, Felice, Greta, Halle, Isabel, Judith, Kendra, Lois, Marsha, Nordeen, Orpha, Patty, Rena, Sherry, Thora, Vicky, Wilma.

The C. D. Director said that copies of Hurricane, Information and Atlantic Tracking Chart, issued by ESSA of the U. S. Dept. of Commerce, may be obtained by the Maine public from any county or local Civil Defense director.

NOTICE TO DONATED FOOD
RECIPIENTS

On May 12, 1970, a meeting was held at the Ethel Bissbee School for recipients of donated foods at which 10 out of 200 were represented. Five of those were members and five recipients, what a turn out. It is imperative if you as recipients wish to continue this program, that you all be present at the next meeting to be held at Ethel Bissbee School, Aug. 11. In order to keep this program from being discontinued in Bethel we need to discuss various problems plus having your complete cooperation. This is desperately needed. If you feel that this program is beneficial to your family you will make every effort to attend and to cooperate in any way possible.
Without this cooperation you will be without officers which will mean no program for you at all. The officers are willing to continue if you show your interest and support and not just children helping. We do have one or two other ones that do help but usually it's just the same ones each month. So the decision lies with you as recipients. So please attend and express your views and opinions. — Your Officers.

Hathaway Reports:
MORE PROTECTION FOR THE
BELEAGUERED CONSUMER

At this writing, the U. S. House of Representatives is preparing to vote on proposed legislation that will carry the 91st Congress further on its way toward fulfilling its promise to American consumers—the promise that it would truly be a "Consumer Congress."

The pending proposal is concerned with the regulation of unsolicited credit cards and designed to minimize the possibility of such cards being stolen from the mails. It was approved by the Senate in April by a 79-to-1 vote and is expected to receive a similarly impressive majority in the House.

The need for this kind of legislation has been prompted by clear indications that our Nation is rapidly becoming a credit card society. Competition among those in the credit card business has reached the stage where the bulk mailing of credit cards which are not requested has become the rule rather than the exception. The upshot of these mass mailings has been a great increase in the opportunity for theft—an opportunity compounded by the sorry fact that those to whom cards are sent are not aware of the mailing, and thus cannot notify the sender of nonreceipt.

The occasion for fraudulent use of credit cards is obviously escalated under these circumstances. Here in Washington, for example, a single credit card company reported losses totaling $200,000 during the months of January and February of this year. Nationwide annual losses are estimated at between $50 and $150 million.

The impression that the financial institutions involved in the credit card business are subject to the great losses which fraudulent use generates is a misleading one. The real burden rests with the consumer.

Both the cost of credit-card insurance and the discount rate charged to merchants for the convenience of charging sales to credit cards has risen dramatically over the past several years. The merchants, however, have refused to absorb the costs of such services. So, necessarily, they have been passed on to the consumer.

As added problem concerns the likelihood that continued fraudulent uses will drive interest charges even higher than the current 18 per cent on debts of more than 30 days delinquency.

And there is a further consumer-related problem. A consumer who is the victim of fraudulent use of a credit card is, of course, charged with purchases made in his name.
By the time the matter is adjusted and the innocent party absolved, he may have incurred extra telephone, mail, and miscellaneous expenses—sometimes even attorneys' fees. And the inconvenience, the embarrassment, and threatened credit standing which he may suffer are often incalculable.

The measure now awaiting House floor action adequately meets the need for corrective legislation. Under it, a credit card of any kind cannot be mailed, unless—

- (1) It is solicited by the addressee;
or
- (2) It is a replacement of one previously issued to the addressee;
or
- (3) In the case of a lost or stolen card, it is being returned to the addressee; or
- (4) It is sent by registered mail, with delivery restricted to addressee and return receipt requested showing to whom, when, and where delivered, and is sent in an envelope bearing on its face the name and address of the sender and such notice concerning its contents as may be prescribed by the Postmaster General.

The security procedures regarding registered mail will narrow the opportunities for credit-card mail theft.
Since such mailings, unlike first-class mailings, proceed through the postal system in locked mailbags. The further restriction of delivery to a named addressee and the return receipt requirement will reduce the mail theft threat even more.

The authorization of the Postmaster General to require that envelopes bearing unsolicited credit cards carry a notice of their contents will facilitate a recipient's refusal of such mail. And the criminal penalties provided by the measure—up to $1000 for each violation—are sufficiently flexible to provide a reliable deterrent against violations.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,
I would like to inform you as how the people in town behave toward the younger generation. Did you know you cannot even sit on Main Street without being summaoned to court for disturbing the peace or something of that nature? But when you get there they have to make up a story so that the judge will think that the person being accused is guilty before the trial even begins.

Most of the young people in town do not even realize how some adults in town really hate them, just because of the way they dress and talk. You know there is nothing in town actually to do because everything is being closed up by the older generation. So the only thing the young people can really do is sit on the street or ride around town or maybe go to someone's house to listen to music or something.

So we the younger generation would appreciate being given at least one warning before we are hauled into court for something that will be cleared up by just talking to each other. This would also make it an easier way for the people in town to get to know some of the young people, so that you do not have to go to court just to make up lies to make the case stick.

Sincerely,
Franklin Hart

is not thought that the general meaning was altered.

MAINE THINKS SNOWMOBILE DEALERS MEETINGS SCHEDULED

Before you know it, it'll be time to think about prepping up the old snowmobile, or buying a new one, which will make many people happy.

Recognizing this, the Maine Fish and Game Department's snowmobile registration office has set up a series of dealer meetings. Although the sessions are aimed primarily at dealers, anyone who is interested may attend.

The primary purpose is to discuss problems encountered last season by dealers and by the registration office, according to Lorenzo J. Gaudreau, office head.

Places, dates and time of meetings include the following: Superior Court Room, Municipal Building, Rumford, Thursday, July 23, 7:30 p. m.; State Office Building, Room 122, Augusta, Friday, July 24, 7 p. m.; Council Room, Skowhegan Municipal Building, Monday, July 27, 7 p. m.; Council Room, Bangor City Hall, 73 Harlow St., Wednesday, July 29, 7 p. m.; Gentle Memorial Building, Main St., Houlton, Friday, July 31, 7 p. m.

DEER POPULATION SUFFERS

Maine's deer herd continues to suffer the consequences of tangling with motor vehicles, with 171 being killed by that means over the last report period. Game warden reports compiled by the I and E Division of the Maine Fish and Game Dept. show that 98 were does and 82 were bucks.

Of the does killed, wardens reported 24 embryos were found. Illegal hunting accounted for five deer, trains killed three, and the remainder died from assorted causes.

During the previous period, 143 were killed, including 75 does with the resulting loss of 6 embryos. This period was just prior to the fawning period.

A total of 24 moose were reported killed: 17 struck by motor vehicles, two by trains, five killed illegally, and the remainder died from miscellaneous causes.

LITTLEFIELD BEACHES

The evening of July 18th found the rec hall at Littlefield Beaches overflowing with friends, relatives and carpers who turned out for a surprise 25th wedding anniversary party for Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Morey. Refreshments were made by campers, and the beautiful cake was made by another camper, Mrs. Charlene Heston. Featured, however, was a completely unique money tree directing a camping scene. With camp and plants on drift wood, the tree was laid for a miniature trailer, cashhouse, fireplace, and picnic table. It was a good time for all.

The same week found the "Kamp Kids" preparing their third annual talent show. Talents from all over the country were poured together to make a great show and for a mere dime.

These busy campers also found time to prepare a float for the Molloy Day Parade last Saturday. A majorette corps, dressed in Indian style, drilled for the big day for weeks, and though they didn't win a prize, they had a wonderful time. I wonder what they'll think up next!!!

Saturday started out to be a very nice sunny day and warm. But things changed in a hurry shortly after noon. It clouded in very dark and thundered and rained. This grew worse as heavy wind and hail of very large size pelted down on our gardens and some plants are all gone for this year.

Many of the trees lost leaves and branches but one of Floyd Verrill's large maples split in half and one piece still stands while the other piece fell on their front lawn. While the last big maple tree, around a hundred years old on the lawn at R. M. Fleet's was snapped off and fell across the main road into the field near the mail boxes. It took down all the wires, both light and telephone, even the new cable that had just been strung. The road was closed but traffic detoured through Fleet's yard to let everyone get home. Bryce Yates happened to be home so radioed to the electric company and help was soon here. No one dared to go near the tree or wires until we were sure the power was off. It was off all right, as another tree was down near Sunday River Inn. This did not do so much damage but enough. All the

Mrs. Arline Bernier, Corres. — Lucille Largesse and Sally Buck went to Augusta and visited Fea Judkins Monday. They reported she is improved and will be able to spend the week end at home.

The Ladies' Aid are planning on their Annual Fair for the 8th of August. I have an arts and crafts table on consignment. Anyone wishing to contribute may do so and the Ladies' Aid will receive a commission on items sold. The Fair will be held at the Ladies' Aid building with the regular booths and a supper will be served.

The Community Club met Saturday evening followed by a church meeting. We are still looking for a picture or verbal description of the church as it was built originally with steps instead of a porch. Avery Angeline indicated that he would be looking for volunteers to pound nails and paint as soon as some business matters of the church are taken care of.

Sunday we had a rather unusual service. Beth, a guest of the Tuckers, played a selection on the organ and Janice Buck and Kathy Bernier played a duet with their clarinet and saxophone. Background music was provided by the backhoe, truck and workers outside and at one point some full length trees made a slow, weaving trip past the windows.

Andre Bernier and Chris Bailey were in town Monday. Andre was pleased to help Fred put in a load of hay as he will soon be in the service and unlikely to have another opportunity for some time.

Leslie Fuller has had several more loads of fire wood delivered and has been busy working it up.

Alden Buck is staying with the Earl Bucks. Kathy Bernier is staying with the Korhonen in Newry for a few days and David Korhonen is visiting with us.

Lucille Largesse and Arline Bernier each had a phone installed last week. I hope folks will take time to call in news items as there must be many of general interest which I miss.

A SICK PET HAS A WORRIED FRIEND

A pet is very similar to an infant for it cannot tell anyone when it feels sick or has a pain. For this reason a Veterinarian must be consulted if there are definite symptoms of an illness.

Chances are your Veterinarian will be able to find the cause of the trouble and take the proper steps to speed the pet's recovery. Often, he will prescribe one of the many medicines that are especially formulated for animals. We know that an animal lover considers his pet as a member of the family and we feel the same way.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

Students must ride in school vehicles as assigned to them by school personnel. "Exceptions to this policy are as follows: Parents or guardians may remove their child from a school vehicle whenever they appear in person; students may be excused by school personnel if a note dated and signed by a parent or guardian is presented; school personnel should use reasonable care in excusing a child from a school vehicle; The Superintendent or principals should make the decision where any doubt may arise concerning riding in school vehicles. This policy must be made known to parents each year at the beginning of school.

Following the discussion the matter of transportation of pre-school football practice participants was put into the hands of the Transportation Committee, with a report to be made at the August 3 meeting.

The board discussed a tentative policy on attire, etc., prepared by the chairman of the policy committee, John Brown, of Bethel. Board members discussed the matter and while it was felt that it could adequately serve as a basis for final policy it should be more definitive.

The board recommends that the Bethel Student Council should work on any proposed policy, consult with the administration, with their draft returned to the Board of Directors for consideration. This is to be done after convening of school in September and returned to the Board the early part of the school year.

Board chairman Richard Melville of Greenwood read a letter that Mr. Hyder had received from Gould Academy last month. The letter listed the assistance the District had received from the Bingham Trustees during the 1966-67 school year through the 1969-1970 school year amounting to $30,026.62. Now concluded, this assistance included reimbursement of architect's fees, etc.

Mr. Gerardi discussed the implementation of a year-round driver education course. The board directed him to contact auto dealers to determine the feasibility of this; and to inquire whether they would permit the use of driver education vehicles by the superintendent when it would not interfere with student instruction.

Much discussion ensued on the matter of the position of administrative assistant. Mr. Gerardi said he felt that such a position was necessary; whether it was called administrative assistant, elementary supervisor, curriculum coordinator or something else, it mattered little. The superintendent is to inquire if any present District employees are qualified and interested in the position, as well as check with the State Department Placement Bureau, and any other candidates that might be interested.

The next regular meeting of the S. A. D. 44 directors will be held at the Andover Elementary School at 7:30 on Monday evening, Aug. 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Knappe from Rhode Island left Wednesday to attend their army convention in Pittsburgh, Pa. While there they will visit Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Plasmann.
